NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD

2017 brought with it the confirmation of the Trump Administration's nominees to the National Labor Relations Board ("NLRB"). Unfortunately, as a result the federal agency that is charged with protecting workers' right to organize is now poised to reverse years' worth of progress advancing the rights of workers. In 2017, Republicans in the Senate confirmed Marvin Kaplan and William Emanuel to the five-member NLRB. This followed Trump's naming of Phillip Miscimarra as NLRB Chairman in April 2017. Together, the three of them made up the first Republican majority on the Board in nine (9) years. Miscimarra's term ended on December 16, 2017 leaving another vacancy. Although Trump appointed Kaplan to serve as Chairman, he'll have to fill the vacancy on the Board and get the Senate to confirm another nominee in order to regain the Republican majority.

For the past eight (8) years, the NLRB has worked hard to modernize and fulfill the law's primary purpose, which is to encourage and promote collective bargaining. However, it is likely that all of this hard work and the NLRB decisions that supported workers' rights to collectively bargain are now in danger of being overturned by the new Trump appointed majority.

Prior to being appointed to the NLRB, William Emanuel worked as an attorney for Littler Mendelson, one of the nation's top anti-union law firms. Similarly, Marvin Kaplan worked as an attorney for the Republican House Committee and drafted legislation to overturn Obama-era NLRB decision and make it easier for employers to fight unionization campaigns. Prior to that, Marvin worked in the George W. Bush Department of Labor, where he was responsible for drafting the burdensome union LM-2 reporting requirements.

Also, pending before the Senate is the confirmation of Trump's nominee for the NLRB's General Counsel, Peter Robb. Robb was responsible for writing briefs and making arguments in support of President Ronald Reagan's decision to fire the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization members after they went on strike in 1981 over safety issues. Robb has been a vocal critic of recent NLRB decisions protecting workers' rights to use social media, the NLRB's newly enacted rules removing employer roadblocks to representation elections and the Board's policy on holding joint employers liable under labor laws. These important NLRB reforms are now threatened with being rolled back.

Perhaps the most important NLRB advancement in danger of being rescinded is the NLRB's removal of legal delays to union elections. It previously took an average of 40-45 days to schedule a union election. In 2015, the Obama NLRB issued new rules saying it would conduct elections first, and resolve employer legal challenges later. Employer groups protested this change in what they called "quickie" elections.

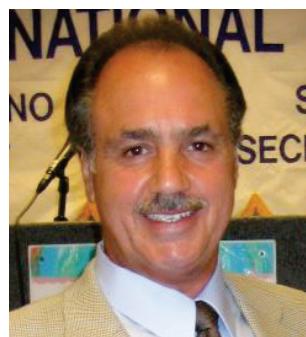

Following the change, it currently takes an average of 25 days to schedule an election. On December 13, 2017, the NLRB announced it was reconsidering the expedited election rule, and is soliciting public comments on whether it should be rescinded, modified, or retained, with a deadline of February 12, 2018 for comments.

Similarly, the Trump NLRB has already overturned the so-called 'micro-union' decision, which made it easier for unions to organize a minority of employees in a single workplace, such as maintenance workers in an assembly line manufacturing facility. In its 2011 Specialty Healthcare decision, the Obama NLRB stopped employers' ability to delay union elections using legal challenges over what is an appropriate bargaining unit. That ruling said a union's proposed bargaining unit did not have to be the 'most appropriate,' it just needed to be appropriate. The Trump NLRB recently overturned that decision, making it easier for employers to assert legal challenges over the appropriateness of the bargaining unit. This is a major blow to the ability of workers to organize and puts the burden back on unions to show that the proposed bargaining unit is proper.

2018 will also likely be a difficult year for organized labor, as the Republicans will undoubtedly continue to see to undo many of the reforms implemented during the Obama NLRB. Now, it is more important than ever, than organized labor remain strong, vocal and vigilant against all attempts to impede our ability to organize and represent our members.

JUNTA NACIONAL DE RELACIONES DEL TRABAJO

2017 trajo consigo la confirmación de los nominados de la Administración Trump a la Junta Nacional de Relaciones del Trabajo (“NLRB”, por sus siglas en inglés). Desafortunadamente, como resultado, la agencia federal encargada de proteger el derecho de los trabajadores a organizarse ahora está posicionada para revertir el progreso de años en los derechos de los trabajadores. En 2017, los republicanos en el Senado confirmaron a Marvin Kaplan y William Kaplan entre los cinco miembros de la NLRB. Esto siguió al nombramiento de Trump de Philip Miscimarra como presidente de la NLRB en abril de 2017. Juntos, los tres conformaron la primera mayoría republicana en la Junta en nueve (9) años. El mandato de Miscimarra finalizó el 16 de diciembre de 2017 y dejó otra vacante. A pesar de que Trump designó a Kaplan para ocupar el cargo de presidente, este tendrá que ocupar el puesto vacante en la Junta y lograr que el Senado confirme a otro candidato para recuperar la mayoría republicana.

Durante los últimos ocho (8) años, la NLRB trabajó arduamente para modernizar y cumplir el propósito principal de la ley, que es alentar y promover la negociación colectiva. Sin embargo, es probable que todo este arduo trabajo y las decisiones de la NLRB que respaldaban los derechos de los trabajadores para negociar de forma colectiva ahora estén en peligro de ser anulados por la nueva mayoría designada por Trump.

Antes de ser nombrado para la NLRB, William Emanuel trabajó como abogado de Littler Mendelson, uno de los bufetes jurídicos antisindicales más importantes del país. De manera similar, Marvin Kaplan trabajó como abogado para el Comité de la Cámara Republicana y redactó una legislación para revocar las decisiones de la NLRB de la era Obama y facilitar a los empleadores la lucha contra las campañas de sindicalización. Antes de eso, Marvin trabajó en el Departamento de Trabajo de George W. Bush, donde fue responsable de redactar los burocráticos requisitos de los informes sindicales LM-2.

Además, está pendiente en el Senado la confirmación del candidato de Trump como asesor general de la NLRB, Peter Robb. Robb fue responsable de redactar informes y argumentar en apoyo de la decisión del presidente Ronald Reagan de despedir a los miembros de la Organización de Controladores Profesionales del Tráfico Aéreo después de que se declararon en huelga en 1981 por cuestiones de seguridad. Robb ha criticado abiertamente las recientes decisiones de la NLRB que protegen los derechos de los trabajadores a usar las redes sociales, las nuevas normas promulgadas por la NLRB que eliminan los obstáculos del empleador en las elecciones de representación y la política de la Junta de responsabilizar a los coempleadores en virtud de las leyes laborales. Estas importantes reformas de la NLRB ahora sufren la amenaza de ser revertidas.

Quizás el avance más importante de la NLRB en peligro de rescindirse es la eliminación de las demoras legales de la NLRB para las elecciones sindicales. Anteriormente, programar una elección sindical tomaba un promedio de 40 a 45 días. En 2015, la NLRB de Obama emitió nuevas normas diciendo que primero se llevarían a cabo las elecciones y luego se resolverían los problemas legales del empleador. Los grupos de empleadores protestaron por este cambio en lo que llamaron elecciones “rápidas”.

Después del cambio, programar una elección demora actualmente un promedio de 25 días. El 13 de diciembre de 2017, la NLRB anunció que estaba reconsiderando la norma de elección acelerada y solicitó comentarios públicos sobre si debía rescindirse, modificarse o retenerse, con un plazo hasta el 12 de febrero de 2018 para enviar los comentarios.

Del mismo modo, la NLRB de Trump ya ha anulado la decisión denominada ‘microsindicato’, que facilitaba que los sindicatos organizaran una minoría de empleados en un solo lugar de trabajo, como los trabajadores de mantenimiento en una instalación de fabricación de líneas de montaje. En su decisión de Atención médica especializada de 2011, la NLRB de Obama detuvo la capacidad de los empleadores para retrasar las elecciones sindicales utilizando recursos legales en lugar de una unidad de negociación adecuada. El fallo decía que la unidad de negociación propuesta por el sindicato no tenía que ser la “más adecuada”, sino simplemente adecuada. La NLRB de Trump revocó recientemente esa decisión, lo que facilita a los empleadores hacer valer los recursos legales sobre la idoneidad de la unidad de negociación. Esto es un gran golpe a la capacidad de los trabajadores para organizarse y vuelve a poner sobre los sindicatos la carga de demostrar que la unidad de negociación propuesta es adecuada.

2018 también será probablemente un año difícil para la mano de obra organizada, ya que los republicanos, sin duda, continuarán intentando deshacer muchas de las reformas implementadas durante la NLRB de Obama. Es más importante que nunca que el trabajo organizado permanezca fuerte, activo y vigilante contra todos los intentos de impedir nuestra capacidad de organizar y representar a nuestros miembros.

HERE ARE SOME GREAT TIPS! LOOK THEM OVER AND KEEP THEM HANDY

- Peel a banana from the bottom and you won't have to pick the little 'stringy thing' off it. That's how the primates do it.
- Take your bananas apart when you get home from the store. If you leave them connected at the stem, they ripen faster.
- Store your opened chunks of cheese in aluminum foil. It will stay fresh much longer and not mold!
- Peppers with 3 bumps on the bottom are sweeter and better for eating. Peppers with 4 bumps on the bottom are firmer and better for cooking.
- Add a teaspoon of water when frying ground beef. It will help pull the grease away from the meat while cooking.
- Add garlic immediately to a recipe if you want a light taste of garlic and at the end of the recipe if you want a stronger taste of garlic.
- Reheat Pizza – Heat leftover pizza in a nonstick skillet on top of the stove; set heat to med low and heat till warm. This keeps the crust crispy. No soggy micro pizza. I saw this on the food channel and it really works.
- Easy Deviled Eggs – Put cooked egg yolks in a zip lock bag. Seal; mash till they are all broken up. Add remainder of ingredients, reseal, keep mashing it up mixing thoroughly, cut the tip of the baggy; squeeze mixture into egg. Just throw bag away when done – easy clean up.
- Reheating refrigerated bread – To warm biscuits, pancakes, or muffins that were refrigerated, place them in a microwave next to a cup of water. The increased moisture will keep the food moist and help it reheat faster.
- Newspaper weeks away – Start putting torn newspaper in your plants; work the nutrients in your soil. Wet newspapers, put layers around the plants, overlapping as you go; cover with mulch and forget about weeds. Weeds will get through some gardening plastic; they will not get through wet newspapers.
- Broken Glass – Use a wet cotton ball or Q-tip to pick up the small shards of glass you can't see easily.
- Flexible vacuum – To get something out of a heat register or under the fridge add an empty paper towel roll or empty gift wrap roll to your vacuum. It can be bent or flattened to get in narrow openings.
- Reducing Static Cling – Pin a small safety pin to the seam of your slip and you will not have a clingy skirt or dress. Same thing works with slacks that cling when wearing panty hose. Place pin in seam of slacks and ... tad a! ... static is gone.
- Measuring Cups – Before you pour sticky substances into a measuring cup, fill with hot water. Dump out the hot water, but don't dry cup. Next. Add your ingredient (peanut butter, honey, etc.) and watch how easily it comes right out.
- Foggy Windshield? – Hate foggy windshields: Buy a chalk board eraser and keep it in the glove box of your car. When the windows fog, rub with the eraser! Works better than a cloth!
- Reopening envelope – If you seal an envelope and then realize you forgot to include something inside, just place your sealed envelope in the freezer for an hour or two. Viola! It unseals easily.
- Conditioner – Use your hair conditioner or vitamin E cream to shave your legs. It's cheaper than shaving cream and leaves your legs really smooth. It's also great way to use up the conditioner you bought but didn't like when you tried it in your hair.
- Goodbye Fruit Flies – To get rid of pesky fruit flies, take a small glass, fill it ½ with Apple Cider Vinegar and 2 drops of dish washing liquid; mix well. You will find those flies drawn to the cup and gone forever!
- Get Rid of Ants – Put small piles of cornmeal where you see ants. They eat it, take it 'home', can't digest it so it kills them. It may take a week or so, especially if it rains, but it works and you don't have to worry about pets or small children being harmed!
- Drinking two glasses of Gatorade can relieve headache pain almost immediately with no unpleasant side effects caused by traditional "pain relievers".
- Info About Clothes Dryers This Is About The Best Hint Ever Heard – The heating unit went out on my dryer! The gentleman that fixes things around the house for us told us that he wanted to show us something and he went over to the dryer and pulled out the lint filter. It was clean. (I always clean the lint from the filter after every load of clothes). He took the filter over to the sink and ran hot water over it. The lint filter is made of a mesh material. I'm sure you know what your dryer's lint filter looks like. Well ... the hot water just sat on top of the mesh! It didn't go through it at all! He told us that dry sheets cause a film over that mesh – that's what burns out the heating unit. You can't SEE the film, but it's there. It's what is in the dryer sheets to make your clothes soft and static free. You know how they can feel waxy when you take them out of the box well this stuff builds up on your clothes and on your lint screen. This is also what causes dryer units to potentially burn your house down with it! He said the best way to keep your dryer working for a very long time (and to keep your electric bill lower) is to take that filter out and wash it with hot soapy water and an old toothbrush at least ever three months. He said that increases the life of the dryer at least twice as long! How about that! Learn something new everyday! I certainly didn't know dryer sheets would do that. So, I thought I'd share!
- Note: I went to my dryer and tested my screen by running water on it. The water ran through a little bit but mostly collected all the water in the mesh screen. I washed it with warm soapy water and a nylon brush and I did it in 30 seconds. Then when I rinsed it ... the water ran right thru the screen! There wasn't any puddling at all! That repairman knew what he was talking about!

CENTRAL STATES JOINT BOARD HEALTH & WELFARE OUT-OF-NETWORK INFORMATION

Out of Network services are among the most costly services covered by the Fund. The Trustees realize that it is important to have access to Primary Care Physicians and Specialists, so the Fund contracted with Blue Cross and Blue Shield to utilize their vast PPO Network. Because of the exploding costs of Out-of-Network Services and the large PPO Network available to the Fund participants and beneficiaries, the Trustees have decided to eliminate coverage for Out-of-Network providers, except for Emergency Room services. Of course if you live more than 30 miles from an In-Network Hospital, the Fund will still provide coverage for Out-Of-Network services.

CENTRAL STATES JOINT BOARD PLAN DE SALUD Y BIENESTAR

Los servicios afuera de la red están entre los más costosos servicios cubiertos por el Fondo. Los Consejeros se dieron cuenta de que es importante tener acceso a médicos de atención primaria y especialistas, con el fin de que bajo contrato de Fondo estén con Blue Cross y Blue Shield para aprovechar su amplia red dentro PPO. A causa de la explosión de los costos de los servicios fuera de la red y la gran red PPO a disposición de los participantes y beneficiarios, los Consejeros han decidido eliminar la cobertura de proveedores fuera de la red, excepto para los servicios de Emergencias. Por supuesto, si usted vive a más de 30 millas de un hospital que este Dentro de Red, el Fondo seguir proporcionando cobertura para servicios fuera de la red.
